

UrbanPulse – MD Discussion Talking Points

Current Observation

From the current account performance, the biggest concern is not only advertising efficiency but the lack of visible business growth despite significant operational effort and advertising investment. This may gradually reduce confidence in the channel if growth direction is not clearly defined.

Strategic Areas To Discuss

- Understand the company's primary growth objective for the next 6–12 months:
 - higher sales
 - profitability
 - market expansion
 - customer acquisition
 - long-term brand positioning
- Clarify whether the business is prioritizing:
 - short-term profitability
 - or long-term steady growth through continued investment
- Understand customer positioning:
 - Who are the ideal target customers?
 - Which customer segments convert best?
 - Are there strong regional competitors influencing performance?
- Evaluate competitive positioning:
 - What are competitors doing differently?
 - Are competitors stronger in pricing, branding, content, or platform visibility?

Growth Opportunities

- Build a more structured digital growth strategy instead of reactive optimization.
- Use frameworks like AIDA, RACE, or 4Ps to improve customer acquisition and brand communication.
- Improve visibility of advertising efforts through simplified business-focused reporting.
- Focus more on long-term brand growth instead of only short-term KPI recovery.
- Explore additional growth channels or platform expansion opportunities if aligned with company goals.

Key Question For The MD

Where does Amazon fit within UrbanPulse's broader business growth plan, and what would success for this channel ideally look like over the next year?